

This 2009 female Sunglow is from a project geared toward making the most yellow albino corns (not butters) that have the least amount of white saddle borders and the prettiest orange markings. Most are also HET for Motley. She is currently 35" long, so she will be a large 2012 breeder for someone. Currently eating frozen/thawed hopper or small adult mice.