

Forgetting how he looks, this is actually a snow version of the High White Reverse Okeetee. Hence, if you breed this to a High White Reverse Okeetee that is not het for Anery (therefore, SNOW), you will get 100% High White Reverse Okeetee progeny. If the High White you breed him to is het for Anery, you'll get some High White Snows and some High Whites. He's currently 27" long and eating frozen/thawed fuzzy to small hopper mice. He should easily be breeding size in 2013.
