

This 2013 male Lava Tessera is 29" long now, eating frozen/thawed small hopper mice. His $350.00 USD price includes

Not unlike many of the SOTDs we publish, even if I create the feature article a week or more before scheduled publication, it instantly appears on the SURPLUS PAGE of our web site the DAY of creation (VS. only when that SOTD publishes). That's why some of these were sold before they even SOTD published. Sorry to TEASE via allowing it to publish—even if sold-but I still thought it was pretty or unusual enough to show, AND the proclamation reminds folks to check the SURPLUS PAGE now and then, to get a jump on shoppers who want to buy them later when they are published on SOTD. We create SOTDs from two to 14 DAYS prior to their respective scheduled publication dates so some of them are advertised many DAYS before most of the world sees them on our web site or South Mountain Reptiles Face Book Page. This male Lava Tessera is going to his new owner at the next Terraristika Reptile Expo in Hamm, Germany in December.
