

Not just the Classic Opal Motley he appears to be, this one has a Coral-type Snow parent. Marsha Matthews (poppycorns.com)-from whom I acquired this gem-would be insulted that I casually called one of its parents "Coral", but I hope she knows that not citing the genetic royalty of this snake is only because I don't keep up with the lineage of her beautiful corns. The non-Opal parent of this male Opal Motley is Sonnet (Neon X Salmon), for those of you who are familiar with her breeding stock. Thanks a million, Marsha!
