

This 2015 female Extreme Okeetee corn snake has enough connected markings to call her Zig Zag, but not enough to say her polygenetic pattern aberration will be in the genome of her progeny (unless you breed her to a corn with similar pattern aberration). She is currently 16" long, eating small pinky mice.