

A typical adult eXtreme REVERSE Okeetee corn snake, so-called for their highly reduced blotch color (red). The target phenotype is complete elimination of the markings, but that rendering is often less remarkable than ones like this, that offer an extra color for contrast?