

This 2015 male Striped Tessera corn snake is currently 18" long, eating frozen/thawed pinky mice. His parents were both het for Striped Honey Tessera so he is only possibly het for those gene mutations, BUT the yellow in his striping hints to the potential that he's at least het for Sunkissed?