Comments: Superior color

This 49" 2009 female Reverse Okeetee corn is a great breeder and produces very pure High White Reverse when bred to higher-white males. I love the green blotch margins and some of her progeny have demonstrated those features. Probably more than I think, but since the margins are white for up to a year after they hatch, I don't keep enough of them to find out exactly how many of her progeny inherit that color.

She has eaten two mice since emerging from a 3-month+ brumation on February 10th. She should be in the mood to wed in four to six weeks (should you want to breed her this year).
