

Show & Tell

This Sunkissed Anery corn becomes more yellow with every shed, demonstrating that much of its yellow exhibition is the result of ontogenetic (via maturity) retention of carotenoids that are in the mice they consume.