Ultramel Tessera

Female

d.o.h. 2010

36" long on March 12, 2013

Possibly Het Anery

$500.00 shipped

This female Ultramel Tessera is now 36" long, eating frozen/thawed small to medium adult mice. She offers great genetic potential when bred to any non-Lavender, red-eyed corn snake. Since the Ultra gene mutation is codominant with Amelanism, by breeding this female to any Amel corn, approximately 1/2 of the progeny will be Amel and the remainder of them will be Ultramels (along with a percentage of any recessive mutations that both snakes possess).

Comments: Superior color and size maturity.
