This male 2018 Striped Honey (Sunkissed Caramel) corn snake is currently 20" long, eating frozen/thawed pinky mice. Just because none of his parents or other relatives have produced any Star-Gazer's mutants in the 13+ years I've been breeding this familial line does not mean this one cannot be a carrier. SG is not a disease, but a gene mutation that is inherited from snakes that are either homozygotes of SG (exhibiting the nasty neurological issues from SG) or heterozygotes (exhibiting NO markers for the gene mutation).
