

Show & $OLD

This beautiful FEMALE 2010 Red Mask Amel is the result of Dan Stokkers breeding a Coral Snow to a Blizzard. So she is het for charcoal, as evidenced by her producing Coral Blizzards for me last year. She is six weeks out of brumation and should be receptive to a male very soon (if not now). If I didn't have two or her sisters here, I'd keep her. 43" now, eating frozen/thawed adult mice, her $295.00 price includes $OLD

Same female in different light and pose.
