

Each DAY at 11:00 am. ct (GMT - 5) we will post a different SMR snake being offered at a special price.
All snakes will be chosen for their rarity and/or unique beauty.
FREE U.S. SHIPPING for each Snake-of-the-Day.

toDAY's SNAKE of the DAY (Mon. April 1, 2013)

{simpleproduct:id=546}

Details

#040113
Okeetee
Female
d.o.h. 2011
36" long on March 31, 2013

$85.00 SHIPPED

Comments: She has great pattern, color and size, but the reason for the low price on this female is possibly nothing you will detect (if you buy her). She has been everything we seek in a SMR corn, but when I was photographing her for this feature, she was a maniac. She continually struck at me and was otherwise intolerant of my interactions with her. Since I don't detect signs of an impending shed, she could have turned to THE DARK SIDE and is now going to be aggressive toward humans. I've honestly never seen that happen, but just in case she is less than cordial from this point on, I'm pricing her to be worth having. ToDAY, she is much better, but I'm wondering with all the smells in this building being so different from the building in which she grew up, perhaps she's reacting to the unfamiliar smells? Shrug? Regardless, she is not guaranteed to be human-friendly, even though I suspect her attitude yesterDAY was temporary.