

SHOW & TELL

2014 Striped Anery Tessera corn snake. The bluish tinge in the white stripe zones suggests that it could be both Anery & Charcoal which is entirely possible in the genome of its parents. If it were even bluer I'd say it IS a Charcoal Striped Tessera, but in this family, the Charcoals almost always have much deeper blue between striped pattern zones.