

Show & Tell

A work-in-progress we are thiiiiisssssssss close to eliminating the yellow (therefore, orange) in this project. One more generation of breeding this one to perhaps one of our new RED mutants and we'll have an amazing new corn morph. This is one of the red-on-red Fluorescent corns I mentioned previously, but we won't be selling any of the red babies until we reach our goal of red perfection. This is one business where it pays to be "picky", right?
