

Show & Tell

2017 Snow Tessera from the giant (and old) female Snow with the hard yellow markings that was featured on our FB page on March 5, 2017 and on this web site April 1, 2017 (see pix below). Hopefully, this Snow Tessera and others in this brood will exhibit yellow markings, but they won't reveal that until they are closer to a year of age. BTW, the sire of this brood of hatchlings is a Tessera, Het Scaleless Anery. Well, actually, I only NOW see that he is also het Amel. A mutation that Jim Stelpflug will confirm since the parents of his 2016 Scaleless Amel Tesseras were siblings of the sire of this brood. Bonus pic
