

The Snake-of-the-Day headliner of this web site features photographs that we believe will interest our web site visitors. Each daily photograph will be posted at 11:00 am. central (GMT - 5) and replaced in 24 hours. Feel free to make suggestions regarding what snake photographs you would like to see in this daily feature. The animals pictured here are not for sale, unless otherwise noted, but you can find available surplus snakes for sale on the Surplus Page of this web site. We appreciate your patronage and welcome any suggestions you may have.

Those close to me know that my favorite corn snake morph was always the Reverse Okeetee, now eclipsed only by the High White Reverse Okeetee. It is unbelievably difficult to achieve clean, crisp, and white ground color zones through clever selective breeding, and good ones like this are still uncommon in the hobby. This female didn't lay very many eggs for her first-ever clutch, but next year she will make up for it. If she is a ten on the 1-10 scale, her husband is a strong nine, so their kids should be eye-popping. We expect to have some of these beautiful corns available for sale in mid-July, but more will be shippable in mid-August.
