

Show & Tell

I think the last time I bred Striped Sunglow Motleys was the year that Rob and Louise Stevens of Bayou Reptiles retired from the hobby (I sure miss my old friends). I keep many corns that I don't breed for one reason or another (usually because their market performance trends were lazy when they fell from consumer favor), this year I'll resurrect some of them (like Striped Sunglows) to test the market waters.