

Show & Tell

This is the mother of the SOTD featured on 08/28/15. We're still not sure why the snake in the second picture toDAY looks the way it does, but we get just one of them each year for the past four years from pairing toDAY's female Anery to a male with the same genes? Surely we'll get one-or even two if we're lucky-this year, unless our luck is reversed, rendering none this summer? Second Pic . . .
