

Show & Tell

I only THOUGHT I'd seen great striping on some of the Scaleless Striped Tessera, but this one really takes the blue ribbon. Just look at that tail striping and the stark absence of lateral tessellation? How amazing will this one look as an adult? If I hatch one more like it, I'll sell one of them, but I'm really keen on seeing this one in adult form. BTW, both parents are Tesseras, so there's an outside chance (super rare, actually) that this one could be a Tessera homozygote? Fingers crossed. Bonus pic