

Show & Tell

Though technically gravid now, the eggs she is showing (via distended scales for most of her body posterior) she has not yet been bred. I'll introduce her to her 2016 husband any DAY now. While shedding events are often good timing markers for ovulation, I don't wait for those when I can visibly see (or manually palpate) eggs.