

Show & Tell

These two 2014 Pied-sided Bloodred (aka P/S Bloodred) corns are siblings. Note the typically shattered and discontinuous striping on the P/S Bloodred Tessera. Most of the sides of both snakes should change to solid red with maturity, but since the parents of these are from Rich Hume's "White-sided" Granite, I'll be keeping my fingers (and toes) crossed that some will have contiguous lateral white. Bonus Pic . . .