

The Snake-of-the-Day headliner of this web site features photographs that we believe will interest our web site visitors. Each daily photograph will be posted at 11:00 am. central (GMT - 5) and replaced in 24 hours. Feel free to make suggestions regarding what snake photographs you would like to see in this daily feature. The animals pictured here are not for sale, unless otherwise noted, but you can find available surplus snakes for sale on the Surplus Page of this web site. We appreciate your patronage and welcome any suggestions you may have.

Can you determine which of these three siblings is not a Buf mutant corn snake? Parents are Extreme Okeetee x Buf. The question is rhetorical since it's easy to tell (in THIS image), but I posted this picture to demonstrate the relatively subtle distinction between common corns and Bufs. In this picture, you see obviously more yellow in the Bufs, but others I have only show a slight color distinction from Common or Okeetee corns. This is why some people offer snakes they say "might be Bufs".
