

Show & Tell

The grandsire of this Striped Tesseract was a Pewter so this is either a Striped Tesseract Pewter or a Striped Tesseract Charcoal. Naturally, I default to the later for two reasons; 1) wise to default to the least-case-scenario and 2) The stripe is perhaps too contiguous to believe it could be a Bloodred mutation. It's not unknown for a Bloodred Tesseract type to have such a perfect stripe, but exceedingly rare?