

Show & Tell

In another week, these Salmon Snow females (and their brothers) will have fed three times, and therefore deemed shippable. We'll feature them on the availability page of our web site at that time. Of course, their colors will greatly saturate to being heavily pink and coral in the next two years of maturity.