

Show & Tell

Some 2015 Scaleless corns hatched yesterDAY. Inquisitive lil buggers. Each time I'd change camera angle, they'd all follow my movements in synchrony, not unlike people in the gallery watching a tennis match. Precious. Yes, there are four Scaleless Caramels, but all the rest appear to be "normal" if not shockingly colored for non-color mutants? Their father is a Scaleless "common" het for Butter, but their mother is only het for Caramel
