

Show & Tell

Some of the Scaleless corns shown a few DAYS ago. None are Motleys, so for those of you who think the circles on the back are markers for Motley, this demonstrates that false rumor. The bellies of all these being typically checkered denote that they are not Motley mutants. After their post-partum shed and a few meals they will be offered for sale on this web site (later this month). . . .