

Show & Tell

Pied-sided Bloodred corn snake photographed outdoors on a mirror. I've been photographing snakes on mirrors for years, but whenever I shot them outdoors-showing what was in the reflection beyond the snake-people usually said that it distracted from the photo subject. I shot this one almost a decade ago, intentionally rendering the reflection of trees above the shooting theater.