

Show & Tell

I'm more convinced than ever that Rich Hume's PEACH LAVENDERS are still keeping genetic secrets from us. In this brood of Peach Plasmas, there was not one single Hypo Lavender-type. Also, there is very little distinction in the color of these Peach Plasmas? They were either Plasmas or Peach Plasmas. Anyone who has breeding trial results that point to a new allele, please, let us all know.