

Show & Tell

This 2013 Red Mask Anery Motley (from a Coral Snow) is really starting to saturate colors, but I wish it would only deepen ground color zones. Selective breeding down the line may help control which body zones saturate most?