

It's unusual for Hurricane Anery Motleys to have concentric margins that are not black, but I still like this one. He is the result of pairing a Salmon Snow (aka: Coral Snow) Motley to a Hurricane Anery Motley. I can't imagine how much carotenoid yellow he will have when he's older if he's showing this much yellow at age 2.