Believe it or don't, this 2016 24" female corn snake is a Striped Amel. Seeing very little striped markings and lots of what we sometimes call "tweener" blotches, if you breed her to a Striped Amel phenotype, you will get classically Striped Amels, some like this snake, and some in-between, with regard to pattern. She is currently eating frozen/thawed large-pinky mice. She is a sister to yesterDAY's Amel Motley so she is possibly-het Fire and Ghost. Her $175.00 USD price includes
